

littlehelpinghands™

inspiring community service in early childhood

Partner with Little Helping Hands

Join Little Helping Hands in enhancing the lives of young children in the Austin area.

We are a local non-profit dedicated to creating volunteer opportunities for families with young children. By introducing our young volunteers to different causes and organizations, they see the many ways they can help the Austin community.

“ To reach as many families as possible and broaden the effect of our services, we are looking to partner with like-minded organizations. ”

Families with young children are an enthusiastic, yet, underserved volunteer market. Our volunteers consist of entire families eager to get involved in community service together. Many youth volunteer programs are designed for older children and teenagers, leaving out young children and their parents or caretakers. Little Helping Hands fills this gap by creating activities designed just for them.

Young children can do many jobs, especially when guided by their parents.

- meal assembly/preparation
- sorting and organizing
- city/park clean-ups
- arts & crafts
- gardening, planting, and harvesting
- decorating
- fundraising event support

Why partner with Little Helping Hands?

Showcase your services.

Bring attention to your organization by working with us to support your existing volunteer needs or to create volunteer activities around your services.

Increase your exposure.

All volunteer opportunities are promoted through our website with links to your organization.

Grow your volunteer base with minimal investment.

We will recruit families and provide on-site supervision for the tasks you need done.

Help support family volunteerism by joining our cause.

For more information, visit us at littlehelpinghands.org